Transient Elements

Reticulum I, 2026

Where fragility becomes architecture.

Vitreous, 2024

Filament held at the threshold of disappearance.

Suspended Fluidity I, 2026

A suspended bloom, poised between darkness and light.

The Descent, 2026

A descending form, held in luminous tension.

Fractured Light, 2024

Light broken into fleeting geometry.

Understory II, 2024

A solitary presence held within the hush of the understory.

COURTNEY-JADE

In the quiet spaces
between form and disappearance,
I find what cannot be held.

Nature becomes a language
of delicate tensions—
threads, drops, and fleeting light revealing the beauty
in what is temporary.

Through these transient elements,
I explore fragility not as loss,
but as presence—
a reminder that even the most ephemeral moments
carry their own constellations.
